LOWER EAST SIDE INSIDER: SUCHIN PAK

Across the country, SuChin Pak is known as a correspondent on MTV. SuChin has interviewed well-known celebrities including Mariah Carey, *NSYNC, P. Diddy and Billy Idol.

In the Lower East Side, she's one of the many creative spirits that makes up one of Manhattan's most unique neighborhoods.

"I've lived in just about every neighborhood in Manhattan since I moved here 10 years ago, but for the last seven years, the LES has been my home. I may be biased, but I think it's the best neighborhood in Manhattan," says SuChin.

In the spring of 2010, SuChin, along with three close friends, launched the Hester Street Fair, a beautiful artisanal food and flea market. The four friends have brought to life an unused urban space, owned by Seward Park Coop, that had been overlooked for over 30 years.

It's a perfectly tree lined lot that is filled with passionate vintage collectors, artists and undiscovered food stars from the spring through fall, thanks to the new Hester Street Fair endeavor. From turn-of-the-century jewelry to handmade silk dresses, lobster rolls, Korean tacos, ice cream sandwiches, macarons and gourmet pretzels, the market has something for everyone.

"More than just a commerce space," says SuChin, "we are dedicated to bringing the community together to support everything from local green initiatives to children's programs to fundraising for neighborhood causes."

"I think Hester Street Fair is the first of its kind to combine so many interests of all the communities that live here: first time entrepreneurs, neighborhood activists and residents can all call the Hester Street Fair home."

SUCHIN'S FAVORITE LES SPOTS

FOOD

"An Choi for their excellent Vietnamese Pho."

"My brother and I are addicted to the bar menu at Ten Bells where you can get $1 raw oysters at happy hour! "

"For the perfect guilty pleasure, I go to Cheeky's for the best fried chicken biscuit sandwiches in the city."

CLOTHING

"Gargyle is one of my favorite go-to spots for any occasion where they manage to seamlessly unite sporty and fashionable."

"Suite Orchard which is filled with designer goods that are hard to find."

FLOWERS

"In the back of Ernest Sewn is the magical Flower Girl where you can see how nature is crafted into artful centerpieces."

ART

"There are over 60 galleries in this neighborhood so any given day is an art tour—some of my favorites include the James Fuentes Gallery and the Mark Miller Gallery, but just about every block has an art exhibit."

EXPLORATION

"There's a reason the Tenement Museum is one of the biggest attractions in all of Manhattan. For an afternoon you literally walk back in time, into "living" stories that you can see and feel."

"Education Alliance has a calendar chock full of free or really cheap classes that are a great way to spend some down time. Learn the art of Tai Chi, take an Israeli Folk Dance class or pilates for beginners."

MADE IN THE LOWER EAST SIDE

Looking for unique, one-of-a-kind designer clothing and accessories? Look no further than the Lower East Side for a number of hip, fashionable designers who create their designs right here in the neighborhood.

The cover of the LES neighborhood guide features a dress designed by James Coviello. He designs three collections a year, and sells to over 40 specialty boutiques and department stores throughout the world, including Fred Segal in Los Angeles and Barneys in New York. Coviello creates and sells his designs in his boutique on Orchard Street.

Designer Richard Ives is co-founder of Pilgrim, a store that carries his designs along with vintage apparel and accessories. "I want to make women feel beautiful in a modern and inviting space," says Ives. Designer Annie Havlicek finds inspiration with the cultural vibe of the Lower East Side and Williamsburg, Brooklyn, lending her collections a quirky feminine aesthetic. Her store features classic, distinct designs.

Wendy Mink Jewelry also maintains a boutique in the Lower East Side, and carries an extensive range of her unique jewelry as well as hand-picked vintage pieces.

Menswear designers include By Robert James on Orchard Street. Designer Robert James creates menswear that appeals to high-end men's fashion as well as the average guy. Designer Ahmed Abdallah of Teddy Boy on Allen Street is a second option for LES-designed menswear. Both design clothing for today's fashion forward man.

"My brand theme is 'simple, honest and hand-some,'" says James. "The inspiration is primarily resourced from the 1860s to the 1960s: ivy leaguers and gun fighters to pop stars."

Annie Havlicek's clothing features classic and artistic designs

A sketch for a hat by designer Victor Osborne, who creates designer hats for both men and women

Victor Osborne brings the art of millinery to the Lower East Side with his collection of hats for both men and women. His line consists of patterned fabric casquettes, blocked pieces such as fedoras and sunhats, specialty cocktail hats and many other styles.

Among the choices for a custom-designed handbag is Horse+Nail designer Lindsey Hufnagle's creations. Lindsey decided to locate her workshop in the Lower East Side, having been tied to the area since 2000. "I have witnessed the progressive changes in the community and feel a strong bond with it," says Lindsey. "I appreciate the importance of new young businesses in all areas including fashion and art."

These are just a few of the many designers that call the Lower East Side their design home. As you explore the neighborhood, you'll find that creativity and quality go hand-in-hand with all the unique designer goods that can be found in the Lower East Side.
